PRESS STATEMENT

THE ASUMBI SISTERS ASSAULT

The Atheists In Kenya Society strongly condemns an incident of abuse in which an older sister from the Asumbi Sisters, part of Kenya's Catholic Diocese of Homa Bay, is seen in a video assaulting a younger member.

This incident has once again exposed the significant disparity between the principles advocated by numerous religious organisations and the behaviours exhibited by their leaders.

We strongly encourage the young lady who has suffered abuse to discontinue her association with the Asumbi Sisters. She now needs to prioritise independent thinking and personal freedom, and reject religious authority.

She should explore alternative, non-religious communities that offer a more inclusive and affirming environment.
